Layering Light — Use all three layers of light — ceiling, wall, seated level — to create ambience and, more practically, to place light where it's needed. Select overhead fixtures — chandeliers, pendants — that are in scale with the room. Wall lights or sconces supply light in dark hallways or foyers and also add beauty and sparkle to living rooms, bedrooms or bathrooms. Strategic placement of table and floor lamps creates social space and adds warmth. Talk to your lighting showroom specialists for expert advice on creating your lighting plan.

lighting TIP

Dimmers — Dimmers allow for complete and intimate control over your home's lighting. You can adjust the intensity of the light to meet the needs of different individuals and different tasks, to warm the color, and to extend the life of incandescent lamps. Several new LED bulbs are now dimmable to the same warm ambience preferred by most homeowners, and have the added benefit of greatly reduced (80% or more) energy use.

Integrated dimming systems allow the most variety. With the touch of a single button from a wall box or a wireless remote control, homeowners can set light levels for an entire room to a pre-set level. Touch dimmers create a lighting change in one or more fixtures with the press of a single button. Slide dimmers offer manual control of the lighting in a room. Rotary dimmers are the ones most likely to conjure images of your Mom's dining room. The manual dial allows a homeowner to alter the lighting level by turning the dial.
